

Iceberg Lettuce (24 count)

Lettuce supplies have improved greatly in recent weeks driving the markets lower. U.S. lettuce shipments last week rose 1.1% and were 15.2% better than the same week last year. History suggests there may be more modest downside in the lettuce markets in the coming weeks. The chief tomato harvest areas are beginning to transition north both in the east and west. Tomato supplies have declined during the process with shipments last week falling 18%. Tomato supplies could remain fairly subpar through the end of the month.
