

Iceberg Lettuce (24 count)

Avocado supplies have been adequate to ample this winter, keeping a lid on prices. This is due to strong imports from Mexico. U.S. avocado imports from Mexico last week were 17% more than the same week last year. Yet, California avocado shipments are expected to track well below 2018 levels in the coming months which suggests that higher avocado prices could be forthcoming. But runaway avocado markets are not anticipated unless shipments decline from Mexico. Lettuce supplies are starting to improve, driving lettuce prices lower.
